The sessions will look at co-operative methods of working in schools to support the development of citizenship skills and enterprising young people.

The sessions will provide:

- A toolbox of ideas, skills and methods flexible enough to work across all curriculum areas
- An opportunity to review resources
- A signpost to support available
- An opportunity to develop school action plans

The courses will be facilitated by the Ipswich & Norwich Co-op Member Education Department and will provide an exciting opportunity to work with DYNAMIX, a workers co-operative of trainers who have facilitated many of our sessions with teachers and young people over several years.

We believe that if young people are actively engaged and work co-operatively, they are more likely to learn and succeed.

The sessions will be informal, informative, participative and fun! We hope you will be enthused, inspired and energised.

There will be an opportunity to subsequently join with other educationalists at our Norfolk Co-operative Learning Network meetings. These are held termly and provide an opportunity to share good practice, exchange ideas, support colleagues and plan for future challenges!
