

Earthwatch Educator Expeditions

Do you teach secondary level science, geography, or citizenship in the UK?

Are you passionate about conservation, wildlife and environmental issues?

If so you are eligible to apply to the Earthwatch Educator Expeditions in the summer holidays 2009. These fully-funded expeditions provide a fantastic continuing professional development opportunity for educators who want to:

- * Experience environmental research in action in the UK
- * Work alongside leading scientists
- * Learn transferrable field research skills
- * Bring new ideas and knowledge back to your students
- * Integrate environmental themes into your teaching
- * Develop teaching materials and resources for your classroom
- * Meet and exchange ideas with like-minded education professionals

For further information visit the website or contact James Jackson.

James Jackson
Programme Officer, Engagement
Earthwatch Institute
Mayfield House,
256 Banbury Road,
Oxford,
OX2 7DE

Tel: 01865 318849
Fax: 01865 318869

 Expedition Special Offer

Find out how you can get a five per cent discount, plus a further £100 off the cost of your Earthwatch expedition!

 Book your place today at our March lecture at the Royal Geographical Society

Join us on 26 March for our lecture, Forests and Climate Change, chaired by explorer and television presenter Paul Rose.