

Able, Gifted and Talented 'What works well' Conference

Monday 21st June 2010
9.30 – 16.00

Venue: Oasis Leisure Centre Norwich

Who should attend: Secondary A,G&T Leading Teachers / Coordinators, Senior Leaders responsible for teaching and learning.

This sharing practice day led by Ian Warwick from London Gifted and Talented presents a fantastic opportunity to find out about how to present high challenge activities and create a climate which supports independent learning and intellectual curiosity.

This full day conference replaces the A,G&T secondary network meeting for the summer term and is intended as Day 3 of the National Strategies G&T Leading Teacher training.

Learning outcomes – course participants will:

- explore the concept of 'high challenge' and ways to establish activities in school
- provide an opportunity to share what works well in establishing independent learning
- develop ways forward related to the Institutional and Classroom Quality Standards

Cost: £140

Norfolk schools: one place per school will be fully reimbursed for this cost by National Strategies via a journal transfer. (Please note our standard cancellation policy will apply).

To book your place please confirm by email to cathy.wager@norfolk.gov.uk or Sandra.howard@norfolk.gov.uk the name of the person attending, school and any dietary / access / special requirements.
